Eligibility criteria: The Synergy Charity Accommodation Plan (D1) tariff is currently available for premises that are wholly used by a charitable or benevolent organisation for providing residential accommodation other than for commercial gain and which are premises for which the A1 tariff (single dwelling, residential use only - not business or commercial) is not available. The eligibility criteria may change from time to time.

About the Synergy Charity Accommodation Plan (D1) tariff:

The Synergy Charity Accommodation Plan (D1) tariff currently comprises a daily fixed charge plus a variable charge for metered consumption and, where your premises include more than one "equivalent domestic residence", an additional daily charge for each "equivalent domestic residence" apart from the first one. You can calculate how many "equivalent domestic residences" your organisation has at its premises by dividing the total number of beds at those premises by 5 and rounding up to the next whole number. The tariff (including how it is comprised) may change from time to time. You can find out more information about the Synergy Charity Accommodation Plan (D1) tariff, including the currently applicable rates, at synergy.net.au or by calling 13 13 54.

Examples of organisations eligible for the Synergy Charity Accommodation Plan (D1) tariff may include (provided they meet the tariff's eligibility criteria):

- Hostels for the aged, women's refuges and other emergency accommodation.
- Homes for the aged (which include a hostel and self-contained units) supplied through one point of supply. Where the hostel is supplied separately from the units, only the hostel is eligible for the Synergy Charity Accommodation Plan (D1) tariff.
